

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Comparators compare the amplitudes of a DPD tracking error signal indicating the phase difference between the detection signals supplied from a 5 photodetector, and a PP tracking error signal indicating the level difference between the detection signals with the reference values, respectively. A gain control amplifier mutes a tracking error signal with the maximum amplitude smaller than a reference 10 value.